产品详情

Aerospace Lubricants' Tribolube-2N is a high performance synthetic grease known for its superb qualities. These qualities include: wide operating temperature range; extreme pressure and antiwear characteristics; non-migratory nature; low foreign and/or opaque particle content; high resistance to microwave energy; compatibility with plastic and elastomeric seals; and a shelf life of over 10 years.

Tribolube-2N can be applied to a vast range of aircraft parts: actuators, gears, gimbal rings, oscillation bearings, antifriction and plain spherical bearings; it is especially suitable for use in applications using miniature bearings. This grease is versatile as it also can be used on or in blowermotors, motor generators, plastic clutches and gears, servomotors, microwave ovens, speedometer cables, motorcycle and automotive distributors, typewriters, business machines, etc. Other applications include subfractional horsepower gear motors, camera drive systems, microswitch assemblies, reduction gears, and scientific instruments.
