There is a second scenario, which is to carry out the COVID-19 eye protection certification. It is a temporally certification for covering only the risk against COVID 19 virus. The validity is for one year. It is a certification method based on EN 166 but the mechanical requirements are less as more protectors made with deformable materials can be adjusted. When a face shield can be easily deformed, the possibility for not meeting the mechanical strength requirements of EN 166 is high, but it is more easy to meet the mechanical properties of COVID-19. This case only applies to Face Shields.
