This week, the domestic construction steel market fluctuated and fell. The average price of rebar in major cities was 4099 yuan / ton, down 146 yuan / ton from last Friday. This week, the rebar futures exchange contract was completed. The closing price of the main contract 2301 was 3637 / T, down 460 yuan / T from the closing price of last Friday, and a discount of 303 yuan / T from the market price of Hangzhou Zhongtian rebar 3940 yuan / T. The policy will continue to make efforts to support economic recovery, and at the same time, it will also boost market confidence. There is a high possibility that the growth rate of infrastructure construction in the second half of the year will exceed expectations. Steel still needs to pay attention to the elasticity of supply growth and the expected strength of demand replenishment. Whether supply and demand can continue to improve under low inventory is an important factor for the market to start in September. As the power limit and high temperature dissipate, the margin of outdoor construction conditions in some areas will improve, but from the perspective of absolute quantity, the recovery of steel consumption is limited. The expectation of resumption of production of steel mills is strengthened, the arrival of market resources is increased, the inventory is increased, and there is resistance to price rise. Under the influence of the recent epidemic, some parts of the country have adopted silence, which once again affects the demand situation. It is expected that the construction steel price will fluctuate at a low level in the near future, and the operation will be adjusted
