It is that time of the year, an annual tradition when millions of Girl Scouts cookie favorites are delivered across the country to eager customers — a $900 million program delivering 200 million packages of delicious treats while teaching business skills to generations of Girl Scouts!

Coinciding with the arrival of Thin Mints, Tagalongs, and Samoas, DHL Supply Chain, the global market leader for contract logistics solutions, released its latest podcast episodes, All Business. No Boundaries. From Cookies to Careers: Removing Boundaries for the Next Generation of Supply Chain Talent. Part one of the two-part podcast can be found here beginning today.

The podcast dives into the planning and execution of the Girl Scouts of Ohio Heartland's annual cookie program which involves year-round planning and strategy culminating with a supply chain-like "cookie drop" each February — called the mega-delivery — where hundreds of thousands of cookies are delivered to central Ohio for distribution by local Girl Scouts.

"We 've been doing the mega-delivery for 10 plus years," said Jessica Martin, Product Program Manager, Girl Scouts of Ohio Heartland Council. "So a number of years of trial and error have helped us to come and finally get to a great place and great flow with how delivery works."
