the special ligno-sulphonate additive for wet pelleting carbon black is made specially for carbon black industry after many years research and introducing advanced production technology,the property of new binder are high sugar and lower ash。 it is the mixture of molasses and ligno-sulphonate calcium and it combines the strongpoint of both , during production calcium is removed adopting special process as well as reducing ash. so it is the perfect carbon black pelleting additive.the basic structure is the ramification of phenyl-propane , it is very easy to dissolve into water , the content of logno is about55-60% , the molecular weight is about 10000-40000;because there are all sorts of activated radical so it easily produces internal polymerizing fountion and other condensation reaction , it takes on excellent dispersion , binding property ; due to relative liquid colloid property it also excellent water-solubility , it can make the water solution with the concentration of 1-50%。 viscosity is increased along with increasing concentration , it is anion-exterior activated additive and excellent binding additive , it can improve the strength of carbon black pellet effectively。
