through this alliance program, eBay sellers in Korea will benefit from access to the company’s extensive global network with special discounts on international shipping rates. The discount is applicable to a wide variety of services including FedEx International Priority Express, FedEx International Priority, and FedEx International Economy, enabling Korean businesses to benefit from fast, reliable, and affordable international logistics solutions.

As part of this collaboration, FedEx and eBay will also host webinars for local businesses to hone their e-commerce strategies and knowledge in customs clearance.
