产品详情

this new roller sorting machine is mainly used for selecting size precision of the steel ball s automatically. the precision

0.001mm is very applicable to size precision selecting of difference diameter steel balls. d uring rough sorting period, it also can be used to pick different balls, scrapped parts and surface defected balls out. meanwhi le, it is applicable to various sizes of screws, nuts, rivets, metal and electronic components.

this machine is designed by totally enclosed type, shapely and clean, good dustproof perfor mance. there are total 4 groups sorting rollers to operate, which being 4 times efficiency compare with traditional m achine, but 1/4 labor cost only, equipped with a special classified collecting box and the corresponding sensor, also designed with moisture-proof deveice and hd industrial camera. our latest patented roller designing improve precision sorting to 0.001mm. the auto-input material feeding system has been adopted to this new machine, which is capable for adjusting the feeding speed and sorting different size steel balls.
