bookkeeping&accounting service

Enterprise Accounting Once established, a company will enter into its operational stage and need to make tax declarations to the local tax authorities on a monthly basis in order to maintain regular business operations. Each company needs a professional accountant to be in charge of its accounting work. A licensed full-time accountant costs no less than RMB 3,000 yuan per month and an English-speaking accountant would cost more. By delegating the bookkeeping work to a professional bookkeeping agency will enable a company to not only enjoy legitimate and professional accounting and tax declaration services, but will also receive financial statements that conform to the accounting standards. More importantly, the company will enjoy cost savings of more than 50% compared with hiring a full-time accountant along with financial recommendations for more cost-efficient operations in China. Enterprise Accounting Services of TDELIGA DELIGA's senior accountant team is comprised of licensed accounting professionals with high professional ethics and sound bookkeeping skills. By developing in-depth understanding of customers ' business, they will develop and implement the best service solutions with relevant accounting standards to relieve you from potential risks and worries, so you can reduce operating cost and focus on business development.
