The consular and the documents certified by the consul are recognized in the country, so the exported commercial documents can be certified by the consulates in Beijing, Shanghai, and Hong Kong. The difference is that Beijing is a consul, and other places are consuls. Some countries have only consuls in Beijing and no consuls elsewhere. Due to the authority of the consul in Beijing, many business documents of export enterprises are certified in Beijing.

Therefore, the common words of everyone: consular certification, consular certification, consular certification, everyone can simply understand the same superficial meaning.
